

Virtual Care Update: Workflow and Etiquette Refresher

Dear Colleagues,

As our virtual care services continue to expand and evolve, we want to take a moment to reinforce a few key workflow and etiquette expectations that help ensure a smooth, equitable, and high-quality experience, for both our patients and our teams.

These reminders are not new, but they are important. Consistency in how we show up and deliver care is essential to maintaining access, efficiency, and clinical excellence across the platform.

Logging in and Queue Management

- Please log in on time for your scheduled shift.
- Set your status to Automatic, so you are assigned the next patient in the queue.
- Manual assignment should NOT be used by clinicians.
 - Queue Managers (QMs) will utilize this function when operationally necessary.

Staying Available On the Queue

- Clinicians are expected to remain on the queue throughout their shift.
- Please DO NOT remove yourself for non-urgent or personal reasons.
- Our staffing model is carefully aligned with anticipated demand, which can shift quickly.
- Completing a shift is not defined solely by meeting productivity targets.
- We have observed occasional variability in end-of-shift practice, including logging off after reaching hourly targets, sometimes prior to the scheduled end time.
- To support consistent access and team equity, clinicians are expected to remain available for patient care through the entirety of their scheduled shift.
 - If you are ill or have an urgent issue, notify the Queue Manager and email Scheduling so appropriate adjustments can be made.

Patient Assignment and Visit Flow

- DO NOT decline visits.
- DO NOT transfer visits unless directed by a QM.

If you encounter a licensing issue (out-of-state patient):

- Notify the QM
- A new encounter will be created and reassigned
- Please DO NOT transfer the visit independently.

Practicing at Your Scope

- Clinicians are expected to see all patients within their scope and training.
- The only routine exception: Adult-only clinicians may request reassignment of pediatric encounters.

We also want to emphasize:

- It is NOT appropriate to transfer visits due to:
 - Requests for medications you do not feel are indicated
 - Requests for work notes you cannot clinically support

In these situations:

- Proceed with the visit
- Provide clear clinical guidance
- Document your reasoning
- Patients, if they wish, may choose to re-enter the queue

Charting and Documentation

To support continuity of care and operational reliability, a quick reminder:

- Charting should be completed for every encounter, including:
 - No-shows
 - Patient-requested cancellations
- Encounters should be fully documented and signed during the visit itself.

We continue to see some charts being completed after the clinician's scheduled shift. Timely documentation during the visit helps ensure:

- Accuracy of clinical details
- Clear ownership of care
- Smooth workflow for downstream teams

Ownership of Care

- Please maintain full ownership of:
 - Labs ordered
 - Imaging ordered
- Avoid CCing PCPs on results unless they are actively involved in that specific issue.
 - This helps ensure clarity in responsibility and avoids fragmented follow-up.

Why This Matters

These expectations are in place to:

- Promote fairness across clinicians
- Maintain efficient patient flow
- Ensure clear accountability for care
- Support a consistent patient experience

Small variations in workflow can have a meaningful downstream impact on access and team function. Staying consistent matters.

Thank You

We recognize the complexity of virtual care and deeply appreciate the professionalism, adaptability, and clinical judgment you bring to this work every day. Your commitment ensures that our patients continue to receive safe, timely, and compassionate care, and that our virtual care model remains strong and sustainable.
